bi-to Buch -

Site consists of a tall square structure enclosed in a compound. Enclosure seems to be wire fence. There is a military atmosphere associated with the structure - people in uniforms. The people seem to be average in that there are not outstanding emotional perceptions. Flashing lights are also associated with the structure. There is an underground component to the structure. The people here are more blue-collar than professional. The underground facility is composed of a large room with access by door & tunnel - like subway way.

The main fence structure is in a populated area. The underground facility is located away from the main structure, but is connected and within the compound. The main structure is for administrative purposes. The underground facility is used to construct equipment of a military nature (Au).
